

CS 586 Introduction to Databases

Graduate Project – Database Implementation

He, Haomin

Ren, Zicheng

11/30/2017

3. Final Write-up: You are to implement your schema in a relational database and populate it with data. The preferred DBMS is Postgres. If you want to use a different DBMS, you must get advanced approval. You then need to translate your 20 questions into SQL and execute them on your database. Your write-up of these activities should include the following:

- Your ER diagram, showing any changes you made during the implementation process
- The CREATE TABLE statements for your database
- A brief description of how you populated the database
- For each of your 20 questions, the question in English, its translation to SQL and the (full) answer to the query. (If you needed to change any of your original questions, also list the originals and why you needed to change or replace them.)
- A listing of the contents of all of your tables

Write-up:

1. Among future international students, what type of school they choose the most? (ie. high school, graduate school and etc.)

SELECT COUNT(*), school_type FROM student_rqst

GROUP BY school_type

ORDER BY COUNT(*) DESC

count	school_type
147	graduate
124	college
18	high school
11	transfer

4 row(s)

Answer: Among future international students, they choose graduate school the most.

2. Which case manager process the most student applications?

SELECT COUNT(*), case_manager.employee_id, case_manager.first, case_manager.last
FROM case_manager, correspondence, student_basic, submission
WHERE case_manager.employee_id = correspondence.employee_id
AND correspondence.student_id = student_basic.student_id
AND student_basic.student_id = submission.student_id
GROUP BY case_manager.employee_id
ORDER BY COUNT(*) DESC

10 row(s)

Answer: Case manager Sara Ren processes student applications the most.

3. Which state schools located at is the most popular place for students to apply for?

SELECT COUNT(*), state
FROM school_applied
GROUP BY state
ORDER BY COUNT(*) DESC

38 row(s)

Answer: Seoul is the most popular place for students to apply for schools.

Note: There is no state concept in Korea. So we input Seoul city as a state value.

4. Count how many application submissions each school has received in 2016 and rank them in descending order.

SELECT school_name, COUNT(*)
FROM school_applied, submission
WHERE submission.appl_id = school_applied.appl_id
AND EXTRACT(YEAR FROM submission.deadline) = 2016
GROUP BY school_name

1 row(s)

Answer: 40 students have applied for graduate school in 2015.

10. How many students have applied for college in 2016?

SELECT COUNT(DISTINCT student_rqst.student_id)
FROM student_rqst
WHERE student_rqst.school_type = 'college'
AND student_rqst.year = '2016'

Answer: 97 students were admitted in 2016.

12. How many students were not admitted in 2016?

SELECT COUNT(*)
FROM student_rqst SR, (SELECT DISTINCT SM.student_id
                        FROM submission SM
                        WHERE SM.status <> 'accepted') AS temp
WHERE temp.student_id = SR.student_id AND SR.year = '2016';

Modifications:

We made some changes of our original design due to some conflicts between the business needs and the design. We also corrected some logical issues between entities.

Originally we wanted two separate tables (submission and feedback) for keeping track of students' paperwork submission and feedback from each school respectively. However, as we started populating data in our database we realized that we didn't actually need two tables since they share the same primary key (student_id, appl_id). Therefore we just merged the two tables into one and called it submission.

We deleted the feedback entity and its relationship with its connected table from both our ER diagram and relational schema as well.

Populating the data:

All of our data were recorded in the format of Excel spreadsheet. We downloaded each Excel table as a .CSV file and uploaded them to our database space. By using command (sample)

\COPY

student_basic(student_id,first,last,dob,address,mobile_phone,alter_phone,email,wechat,application_status,payment)

FROM '/u/zren/student_basic.csv' DELIMITER ',' CSV HEADER;

we were able to efficiently populate all our data instead of typing numerous lines of “insert into table values()”.
